Dear Jim,

It isn't often that people can go through the process of building a new home and in the end say that was an "enjoyable process". In our case that is an easy statement to make.

Not only did you finish the home on schedule (despite significant weather delays) you were also able to save significant money in the process. You constantly looked for ways and had suggestions for how to cut costs without sacrificing quality.

It was evident from the beginning that you treated your subcontractors respectfully, fairly and paid them on time. They only had good words to say about you and the DreamBuilt organization. All subcontractors delivered a quality product and have been very cooperative in following up on punch list items. That level of subcontractor support is a testimonial to your character and professionalism.

As a result we have a beautiful home that exceeded our expectations and one we are proud of and proud to tell people that you built it. To quote our architect: "This is the most successful project we've ever done." You were a large part of that success.

Thank you for making this a stress free process.
